THE
CAMPAIGN KEYLESS LEVER WATCHES,
BY FAVRE-LEUBA & CO.,

ARE unquestionably the best of the kind imported in India, and can be safely recommended as TRULY TRUSTWORTHY AND DURABLE Timekeepers.

These Watches are built on the soundest scientific principles, and expense has been spared there only where it does not interfere with the working qualities of the watch, such, for instance, as by substituting a german-silver case for a silver one, and by setting aside all useless ornamentation.

These Watches are of medium size in a silver-like white metal case, which will not change its colour by wear ; the works are keyless and protected inside by a class dome. It being unnecessary to open the watch for winding or setting the gands, the same being keyless, the covers are made to shut very tight, so that the hatch is fully dust-proof.

These Watches, we daresay, if used with ordinary care and cleaned once every two or three years, will give a 15 years' good service.

They are in stock as described below, and are replenished by weekly arrivals :—

CAUTION.

UNREMITTING thought and labour are bestowed upon a speciality. It is, after great care and exceeding difficulty, crowned with success ; when lo ! immediately there arise swarms of imitations resembling the original closely enough to deceive the Public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights. These imitators, not having, perhaps, the means, or the experience, or the intelligence to push an honest article independently to the notice of the Public, are content to wait and look out for successful experiments by others, and then to adopt the semblance of such, and style these spurious productions the "original" or the "genuine" article. A better illustration of this cannot be cited than the famous case of Johann Maria Farina's Eau-de-Cologne. As soon as it became known that this justly celebrated Perfume commanded the market, the country was scoured for all the Farinas that could be found, they were brought to Cologne, and paid for the use of their name to push spurious articles into the market, styled the genuine Eau-de-Cologne of Farina ! !

In 186[illegible], for the first time, SCHIEDMAYER and SOEHNE'S Pianos were introduced into India. After careful observation and constant practical experiment we discovered the qualities, necessary for making this marvel of cheapness and excellence suitable for the Indian Climate. As soon as the necessary alterations and additions were made to these instruments, we caused an ivory medallion to be inserted over the name of the makers, and on this is stated that these Pianos are "Built expressly for the Indian Climate by order of C. Marcks and Co., Bombay and Poona." Without this we can guarantee none to be genuine.

The fame of these Pianos had scarcely gone abroad, when in came imitations promising everything, and leaving the unfortunate purchasers to find out the good qualities after purchase.

All who have tried our Pianos declare them perfection. We can guarantee Perfection only if the Instruments pass through our hands.

The most superb Pianos in outward appearance, interior construction, tone, touch, and repeating action can be seen at our Depot of

SCHIEDMAYER and SOEHNE'S Pianos,
Opposite the University Clock Tower.

☞ See that you ask for, and more especially that you get, SCHIEDMAYER and SOEHNE'S Pianos. We can guarantee no other genuine.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 24.

TO-DAY has been a Parsee holiday, and the share bazaar has been closed in consequence, while other branches of business have been extremely dull.

From London Reuter advises a decline of ¼ in Consols, whilst Rupee paper is ⅛ higher in 4 and 1-16 in 4½ per cent. French Rentes are unchanged.

In general produce the only movement advised is a decline of 1d. per cental in No. 1 soft white Wheat in Liverpool.

COTTON in Liverpool yesterday was firm in tone, American to arrive being quoted 1-32d. to 3-64d. per lb. higher, but the day's business was small, being only estimated at 8,000 bales including 1,500 Surats. In New York rates remain unaltered at 10⅜ cents for ready and 10·34 cents per lb for January shipment. The receipts at the ports to date give the following comparisons :—

	1884	1883	1882
Tuesday's Receits.....	19,000	14,000	22,000
Four days' Receipts	57,000	59,000	66,000
Total since 1st Sept	195,000	252,000	224,000

The market here to-day has been steady with some little enquiry for export at previous rates. We have not heard of any actual transactions but for new Cotton, with the exception perhaps of Bengals sellers are asking an advance of Re. 1 per candy.

WHEAT is very dull with no inquiry. For No. 1 soft white Rs. 25 per candy is the nominal quotation, but there is no business to be done at the rate.

LINSEED is out of request, and the price has gone back to Rs. 6-1 per cwt. sellers, no buyers.

FREIGHTS continue quite. Unaltered engagements for London are reported at 12s. 6d. but they are exceptional, 13s. 9d. to 15s. being the current level. Continental rates are still 18s. 9d. to 20s. and a steamer is reported fixed for November loading at 22s. 6d.

IMPORTS.—Goods are steady at previous values. Coals continue to harden in value, and there are practically no sellers.

EXCHANGE.—With Bar silver in London quoted 1-16d. lower at 50 3-16d. per oz., and the banks in Calcutta closed from to-day for the Doorgah Poojah holidays, the tone of the market has been a shade easier and the banks have been buyers of ready bills at 1-32d. lower. Forward however, there is no change. We quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 1d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 7 15-32d.	,,
Do. Three months' sight	1s. 7¾d.	,,
Credits do.	do. ..... 1s. 7 11-16d.	,,
Francs do.	do. 207½	,,

GOVERNMENT PAPER is steady but quiet. Fours we quote at Rs. 99 3-16 for cash, Rs. 99 for delivery in a month. Fours and a half Rs. 102⅜.

The Bombay Gazette.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1884.

THE announcement in the National Zeitung of Berlin that Austria, Germany, and Russia will support the action of the French in Egypt may, to all intents and purposes, be taken as official. It is in accordance with the action of the three Powers at the Conference, and it responds to all reasonable anticipations regarding their proceedings. One noteworthy feature—and it shows how small a part that kingdom now has in the union of the Central Powers—is the fact that Italy stands aloof. She and Turkey were the only Powers which supported England at the Conference, and she has studiously refrained from joining her neighbours in protesting against the action of the Egyptian Finance Minister—or Lord Northbrook—on this occasion. The three Emperors have met to some purpose now that one of the first incidents to follow the interview at Skiernivice has been an ostentatious avowal of the determination of their Governments to support the policy of the French Republic. Mr. Gladstone spoke somewhat bitterly at Edinburgh the other day of the action of the Governments who had so provokingly disappointed his confidence in the concert of Europe as an agency for solving all the problems of the higher politics. There may have been no ground for his bitterness, but there assuredly was for his disappointment, and he must feel it more acutely to-day than he did three weeks ago. And yet there is no room for astonishment at the action either of France or of those who are now preparing to support her. The Government, unless they were blind to the elementary certainties of the case, must have known all along that any attempt to violently disturb the operations of the Law of Liquidation would provoke at least the protests of the other Powers who were parties to it, and especially of France, and the course of affairs at the Conference showed pretty plainly that France would not be left to act alone in the matter. The Powers are standing out to-day, as they stood out in London three months ago, against a reduction of the interest on the Egyptian Debt. They are perfectly consistent in their doings, for although it is open to Mr. Gladstone and Lord Granville to deny that the rights of the bondholders are injured by the resumption of the assigned revenues by the Ministry of Finance, everybody feels that these rights are placed in jeopardy thereby. The proceeding is not likely to commend itself to our neighbours any the more for being somewhat too roundabout. It looks, in fact, very much like an appeal from the decision of the Conference, only raised in an informal and indirect way. Whether, being the Power in possession, England can afford to disregard the hostility of the Continental Cabinets in this matter, is a question to which it is not easy to supply an answer. The Ministry might possibly brave it out, and if while they did so the Egyptian Finance Ministry were able to meet the coupons which fall due next month and in November, the Powers would have so much the less reason of a practical kind to maintain their protest. But when the least has been made of the hostility of France and the three Governments that are backing her, the obstacles that confront British policy in Egypt are not by any means light. Suppose, for instance, that some fine morning the Minister of Finance, at the suit of some representative of, say, the German bondholders, were summoned before one of the International Tribunals to show cause why he should not be called upon to restore the assigned revenues to the charge of the Caisse of the Debt? It was through some such action, instigated by Germany, that the debâcle of five years since was brought about, and it might be easy to produce something like a similar result by similar means on this occasion. [illegible] that Prince Bismarck's ill-will is by no means of a platonic kind, and we must not expect that it will yield altogether pleasant fruit for some time to come.

THE experiment of working a Bombay hospital in part by the gratuitous services of honorary assistant surgeons may be regarded as abandoned. As originally proposed the institution of honorary assistant surgeons would have saved the outlay upon the salaries of all the surgeons save the principal, while it would have given young medical men a coveted opportunity of acquiring experience which would help them later on to lucrative private practice. Recent events have caused the Government to come to the conclusion that the experiment has not been successful, and that it is useless to attempt to get unpaid assistants under the conditions of punctuality and subordination which are necessary. A Resolution embodying this opinion, which we were inclined to consider premature, was sent to the Municipality with a hope that the Corporation would concur in the proposal of the Surgeon-General that, instead of employing honorary assistant surgeons in future, a junior commissioned surgeon should be appointed on a salary of Rs. 500 to Rs. 600 per month. This Resolution came before the Town Council yesterday. Dr. Blanc pointed out that the experiment hitherto tried in Bombay is not really based, as supposed, upon the English practice with regard to honorary surgeons. In Bombay the latter are not given any remuneration, direct or indirect, for their services. The men have to live, and of course their first care is not the hospital, but the dispensary or the private practice which enables them to live. In England an honorary surgeon is not paid a salary, but he always holds a lucrative lectureship in the medical school attached to the hospital, or some such appointment, bringing him in a thousand, or eight hundred, or five hundred a year. He is placed above the necessity of providing for his daily wants, and is able to wait for the consulting practice which makes the position remunerative. Dr. Blanc and other members [illegible]e of opinion that the assistant surgeons [illegible] be given a salary, as the Government proposes, but that such appointments should not be confined to commissioned surgeons, but should be left available to the younger practitioners of Bombay. It appeared in the course of the discussion that last September, before any controversy had arisen with regard to the honorary surgeons at the Tejpal Hospital, the principle of partly working the institution by gratuitous services was practically given up by both Government and the Town Council. The Government recommended that the Corporation should consider the propriety of acting on the suggestion of the Surgeon-General, Dr. Beatty, that the honorary surgeons should be paid, or else that a medical officer should be appointed as second surgeon to the hospital on a salary, as was the case before the honorary surgeons were appointed. When this proposal came before the Town Council just a year ago, it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Nowrozjee Furdonjee, that the Council would "gladly" consider the advisability of either paying the honorary surgeons, or appointing a second salaried surgeon when the Municipality took over the full charge of the hospital under the local self-government scheme. It was thus seen that there was no difference of opinion between the Government and the Council on the question of payment for services. The question now under discussion has been adjourned in order that an understanding may be come to with the Government in respect to the proposal to confine appointments to the office of assistant surgeon to commissioned officers. It is to be hoped that the Government will waive its proposal on this point.

A MADRAS correspondent informs us that the Christian College Magazine has in the press another batch of Madame Blavatsky's marvellously indiscreet letters. Many of them have immediate reference to people in Bombay, and some of them, we are amused to learn, have special reference to our humble selves. In September last year, we, in our innocence, transferred to these columns a highly interesting report of an interview held at No. 23 East Forty-first-street, the home of Mr. Frederick Thomas, in New York, the interviewer being a "Telegram reporter" and the interviewed the said Mr. Frederick Thomas. The latter had been a member of the New York Theosophical Society, but he had turned from it, as the reporter puts the case—with a twist of language which reminds one of the respected Claimant—"it not throwing the spiritual light upon the unknown that his longing soul had yearned for." Mr. Thomas gave his opinion of Madame Blavatsky and Colonel Olcott with a reprehensible frankness. He ought not to have said, but he is certainly reported to have said, that the society of which he was once an honoured member was founded on superstition, and that its corner-stone was laid by one of the "most ignorant and blasphemous charlatans of the age, viz., Madame Blavatsky." The statement is entirely too sweeping to be accepted by persons of cautious temperament. We should not care to endorse it for a thousand pounds. Madame Blavatsky thought we ought to pay her Rs. 15,000 for merely reproducing it, entirely overlooking the fact that we had done so merely to show how wild and preposterous were the things said against her by her enemies. She ought to have paid us something handsome for the service which we voluntarily rendered her on that occasion. As it was, we had only the satisfaction of a good conscience, which sustained us under the apprehensions occasioned by an ungrateful threatening letter that we received from Colonel Olcott, menacing us with the terrors of the law. It appears, from the correspondence about to come to light in Madras, that Madame Blavatsky counted on the receipt of Rs. 15,000 from the Bombay Gazette, as if the coins were already in her pocket, as probably they were in astral form. Mr. Frederick Thomas went on to describe the doings of [illegible] Theosophical Society in New York ; how the great Professor Slade, the slate medium, appeared on certain occasions "to give evidence by supernatural manifestations of the presence of [illegible] the Supreme Uncreate Divine Essence which binds all, fills all, emanates everything, and in the fulness of cycles re-absorbs everything until the time comes for the next one in the eternal series of re-births of the visible from the invisible, or to be more explicit, Slade was to hold communication with the designer of all matter." This the gifted professor accomplished by performing the famous slate trick, very literally giving orthodox Christians present, fits, some of them trembling [illegible] with the ague, "and the scales of orthodoxy fell from them from thenceforth." It was not [illegible]ng from them from thenceforth. It was not nothing that the man who tells all this was named Thomas. He was sceptical to a degree, and found or fancied that after thirty minutes' practice he, too, could perform the slate trick.

But his performance was set down as palpable imposture, while that of Slade was held to be indubitably due to the fact that the professor was in personal contact with the Universal Divine Uncreate Essence. A great deal of money flowed in, and the society flourished. But the seeds of scepticism which Mr. Thomas had sown bore their baneful fruit. The society went to pieces, and as Mr. Thomas coarsely put it, Madame Blavatsky and Colonel Olcott took a header and came up in India, and he added that the society was "the biggest fraud of its kind ever got up in this country. It was called the Theosophical Society of Arya Somaj or Arya Varta. This is simply a high-sounding name for a dead-beatism." We are grieved to find from the advices which now come to hand from Madras that Madame Blavatsky was quite vexed with us for showing the world how malevolent Mr. Frederick Thomas could be. We never took Madame Blavatsky's pretensions quite so seriously as some of our more impressionable contemporaries, which now turn and rend her, and it would be sad to suppose that she on her side took too seriously the prospect which, as the event proved, was not realised, of getting us to pay into "the shrine" of Cristofolo fifteen thousand rupees, simply because Mr. Frederick Thomas said uncivil things of the Theosophical Society and its distinguished founders.

A CURIOUS story, illustrative of a feature of local self-government, reaches us from an up-country station. It appears that a meeting of the District Local Funds Committee was held at Broach [illegible] members present [illegible] trict and Head [illegible] Educational Inspector and the non-official landholders and [illegible] President of the [illegible] It appeared that the chairman was [illegible] feet over the floor [illegible] chairs occupied by the official and non-official members. As [illegible] was being proceeded with, Mr. Gibbs, Assistant Collector and ex-officio member of the Committee, entered the room and took his seat by the side of the Collector on the raised platform. Thereupon a non-official elected member, representing the interests of the rural classes, got up and said that he could understand why the President should occupy a raised seat at the meeting, but it was not clear to him why his Assistant should also have a raised seat, while the native official as well as non-official members were to occupy seats on the floor level. He considered the arrangement to be altogether discourteous to native members. The sensitive member accordingly tendered his resignation there and then. Mr. Gill thereupon came down from his raised seat and sat with the other members of the Committee. The inexorable member, however, left the meeting. The native official members considered that Mr. Gill was a member of the Covenanted Civil Service, and for him to occupy a raised seat was in no way discourteous to the meeting.

A LAMENTABLE naval disaster is reported from the coast of Donegal. The gun-boat Wasp, a vessel detailed for special service, was wrecked on Monday, and out of a crew of fifty-eight only six were saved, the commander and officers being amongst those who were drowned. No information is given as to the cause of the catastrophe, which is scarcely to be accounted for solely by the wild and rocky nature of the Donegal coast. Following so closely as it does upon the wreck of the despatch boat Lively upon the Hen and Chickens Rocks, the incident is sure to be made the subject of a specially searching investigation. It was, relatively speaking, a small disaster, because the Wasp was only a small vessel. She is classed as a composite gun-boat carrying four guns, with a tonnage of 465, and 470 horse power. She was commanded by Lieutenant J. D. Nicholls, Lieutenant F. A. Warden being Navigating Lieutenant. She was commissioned in December, 1881.

We regret to learn that His Excellency Sir James Fergusson has been placed in mourning in consequence of the death of his sister-in-law, the wife of Mr. Charles Dalrymple, M. P.

KASHMERE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SRINUGGUR, SEPT. 14.

WE are getting up as much loyal enthusiasm as under the circumstances, we may be expected to possess, since the news spread that T. R. H. the Duke and Duchess of Connaught intended visiting Kashmere. Their arrival is fixed to take place about the time that the greater number of visitors are about to leave on their return to the Punjab and other parts of India. Anticipating these departures, the Resident has issued a notice intimating that between the 4th October and the 8th the rest-houses at Kohala, Finali, Hatian, and Uri, on the Murree route, will not be available, and carriage will be difficult to procure. The result is that several visitors have determined to return by the Pir Panjal route. The greater number leave about the first of October, so that by the time the Duke of Connaught arrives only a few will be here to receive him. Sporting, however, is to be the great attraction for His Royal Highness, and to secure as much sport as possible a large portion of the Valley has been already set apart, and shooting in that part is prohibited till the 25th October. The country between the Lidar and Sind rivers, comprising the greater part of the north-east of the Valley, is already permanently preserved, and now, up to the date mentioned, the remaining portion of that part is to be preserved from the first week in September.

I am glad to be able to state that the vigorous reformation which commenced with the arrival of the new Governor of Kashmere continues, and develops in a very significant but healthy manner. Each tahsildar throughout the Valley has been changed, and the door thus opened for getting at the fraudulent doings of their predecessors. The effect in Srinuggur itself of the sudden exposure of the systematic cheating which has been going on unchecked so long was shown a few days ago, in the case of a Pandit of some position, who was called upon to make explanations and give some account of his stewardship. This man, to avoid the police who were sent after him, tried to make his escape through a window of his house, but he fell down several feet into the street below, and was so severely injured that he died in the hospital twenty-four hours afterwards. The consternation consequently among his fraternity is now very great, and it has been increased by a more shocking occurrence still which has happened recently near Gilgit. It seems that a confidential person was sent from here by order of the Government to look into the accounts of the officials at Gilgit, a distant and outlying district of Kashmere well known to sportsmen. This man had discovered a perfect nest of iniquity, comprising frauds in which nearly every one of the officials thereabouts was concerned. These frauds were connected mainly with the large quantities of rice belonging to the Maharajah collected as revenue from the cultivators of the district, and deposited in godowns. Very little of the large quantities represented on the books of the officials was found to be in existence. The Maharajah, to whom the matter had been reported, ordered this confidential agent to return at once, and report what he had discovered. This man started from Gilgit, but had only proceeded one march when he was attacked, his throat was cut, and his dead body was found by the roadside ; but no clue has yet been discovered as to the perpetrators of this foul deed. Some idea may, however, be formed of the almost universal depravity of the officials in Kashmere. Changes have long been wanted, and now that every day adds some fresh evidence, those who have read my letters will understand that I have not overdrawn the picture, but that the oppression consequent on the loose and immoral system of administration is really greater than I have painted it.

Accompanied by some friends from the Punjab, I paid, a few days ago, a very interesting visit to the Maharajah's establishment for the manufacture of wines and spirits. Under the management of the intelligent French gentleman who superintends the wine manufacture, the quality as well as the quantity of wine produced has greatly improved. The manufacture of white wines this year has been just completed, and that of the red wines is about to commence. There is in stock, in cellars, some of both white and red wines ; the latter of 1881 is a very good wine, a claret, but still almost too new to be drunk. The white wine, a sauterne, is a year less in age, but is a very pleasant wine. The white wine made this year is, of course, unfit for sale, but is apparently a sound, good wine. The claret is sold in Srinuggur at Rs. 15 a dozen and would be worth in Lahore about Rs. 20 ; but the chief drawback is that very few bottles are obtainable. Glass bottles could be made in the Valley, but that industry, like nearly every other, is unknown. There can be little doubt, however, that the manufacture of wine could be carried on in Kashmere with success, and that in time all the supply of claret, chablis, and sauterne that is required in all India could be obtained from the Vale of Kashmere. But this could only be done under such a form of Government as would exist under the British raj, when a railroad would be made to the Punjab, good roads made in the Valley, and all the requirements of an extensive manufacture of wines be obtained with ease and in abundance. The Maharajah is going to add to the vineyard considerably ; a large tract of land is to be planted shortly with vines, and in a few years the present limited sale of Kashmere wines must be greatly increased. In our visit to the wine factory we went through the garden that surrounds it, and there were French peaches and pears, the produce of cuttings from France, which had been grafted on to young trees ; the peaches and pears were both very large and very luscious, proving clearly how admirably the climate of Kashmere is adapted to the growth of European fruits. There is, however, no inducement for any native of the Valley to grow fruit of the description that the English visitors would purchase ; but under a proper Government large quantities of fruit of all sorts might be grown and exported to the Punjab and more distant parts, very cheap and very good. Instead of these choice productions, and an infinite number of others, the land is lying idle, the people are extremely poor, and the Maharajah's revenue has sunk from between 40 and 50 lakhs a year to 15 only.

Under these circumstances, the formation of a company with English capital and under English management is full of interest, and the prospects before it are very promising. I have already alluded to this new enterprise, and I believe the prospectus will soon be advertised. Those who know anything about Kashmere will understand that an English company, under the support of the Resident, and with the help of the protection of the Government of India, has a wide field before it, in developing in a great variety of ways the industries that already exist, and promoting others which [illegible] be introduced to give profitable employment to the people. [illegible] Sunnud under which the Mysore Province was transferred to the present Maharajah appears to provide that the Mysore Government shall be bound to grant to the British Government free of all charge any lands that might be required for military purposes in connection with the maintenance of a contingent of British troops here for the ostensible protection of His Highness's dominions ; and it may be plausibly enough contended that in accordance with this stipulation. The Madras Government should not be held liable to pay any compensation for the appropriation of the villages I have alluded to, in the event of their being required for the purposes of Captain Romilly's scheme, in which case the Mysore Government will be mulcted in a considerable sum for the purchase of the required property from its present holders. The clause of the Sunnud referred to runs thus :—

"The Maharajah of Mysore shall not object to the maintenance or establishment of British Cantonments in the said

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BANGALORE, SEPT. 24.

The counsel for the prosecution summed up yesterday, reserving the right of final reply. He urged that a promise of marriage was proved by the letters produced, the evidence admitting of no extenuating circumstances justifying a breach.

The counsel for the defence replied to-day, contending that there was ample proof of misconduct on the part of the plaintiff justifying repudiation of the pledge.

The court is not expected to deliver judgment till the Dusserah holidays are over, say one week hence.

postpone his return to India till the article can be sent home by post, "so that they may decide with their friends on the course to be pursued in regard to it." The Indian Daily News very pertinently asks:—"Could Madame not bring her occult post office into requisition, and save such an unnecessary delay?"

THE railway defalcation case now under investigation at Hyderabad promises to be a protracted one. There are four persons accused, viz., Mr. Morton, Engineer and Locomotive Superintendent; Nana Sahib, contractor; Ragunathrao, head clerk, Locomotive Department; and Mortazalli, clerk, Engineer's Department. The charges on record are forgery, criminal breach of trust, cheating, &c. Mr. Morton, who stands as accused No 4, has for some days been in custody of the police, the offences of which he is charged being unbailable; he is, however, allowed to reside in his own house, of course under police surveillance. The evidence of Mr. H. W. Warden, the Manager of H. H. the Nizam's Railway, the last witness examined, shows a very unsatisfactory state of affairs.

WRITING in regard to the Infant Marriage question, the Madras Mail remarks:—"If only marriages could be arranged by educated parents between educated children, there might be some hope for the future. Should there exist even a small circle of such families there would be a nucleus which, in time, might be strong enough to stem the tide of superstition which now causes infant girls to be married, and prohibits the remarriage of widows. This, we think, will be the best way to bring about the reform which Mr. Malabari is so ably pleading for in Bombay, and which is so urgently required everywhere. Legislation can do but little, and the movement to be effectual must be from within. Much may be done by the support of influential men, but most will be done by example, and by the members of the reforming party having the moral courage to act up to their principles." At present there appears to be rather more cry than wool.

THE amount deposited in the Post Office Savings Banks in India at the close of July was more than 98 lakhs, the property of more than 97,000 depositors, the average sum at the credit of each being a little over Rs. 100. The transactions in this branch of the Post Office business show an increase of 76 per cent. during the year—a fact which may be left to speak for itself.

THE recent flood which did so much mischief at Umballa has given rise to a petition from a number of tradesmen and householders in the cantonment, begging the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab to take into consideration their claims to compensation. The petitioners point out that the cantonment taxation is heavy, and that the Cantonment Fund, to which they are the principal contributors, is in so flourishing a condition that it was lately proposed to build an Assembly Room out of the surplus. They therefore hold that they are in a position to ask the Government for damages. Presuming the facts to be as they are stated, the petitioners seem to have good ground for their appeal. The bund which burst is a Government protective work designed to keep the overflow of the river out of the station, and as the bursting of that bund was the cause of the loss, there is a primâ facie case for the owners of property, heightened by the fact that they have been paying heavily in the way of taxation.

RAILWAY-TRAVELLING in this country is not now attended with so many risks to life and limb as formerly. This is apparent from the fact that in the first quarter of the current year the accidents decreased by 12½ per cent. as compared with the previous year's returns, although there were 498 additional miles of rail open. There was a marked decrease on all the great lines, with the exception of the Rajputana-Malwa and the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India, where an increase of 28 and 10 per cent. respectively was shown. The class of accidents varies a great deal, according to local conditions; the increase, for instance, on the Rajputana Railway having been due to collisions with cattle straying on the line. Not a single passenger was killed or injured during the quarter in any of the accidents which occurred to "running trains," but 11 were killed and 16 injured from "misconduct" or "want of caution," the large majority meeting death or injury by falling out of carriages during the travelling of trains. The death-rate among railway servants was as high as usual, 35 being killed and 105 injured; while "trespassers including suicides" went to swell the total, 30 being killed and 4 injured. In all 80 persons were killed and 131 injured on our railways during the three months, which is a little higher than the normal rate.

IT has long been a common complaint in India that game is getting scarcer and sport more difficult to obtain. Many causes have been alleged for this; poaching, pot-hunting, and indiscriminate trapping of game birds and deer by native shikaries. A case has just come to the notice of the Pioneer of wholesale destruction of black partridges in which the poacher is not a native but an Englishman. Walhar is a station on the Indus Valley State Railway in the Bahawalpur State and close to the borders of Sind. The country round abounds in game. Between the 1st of January and the 1st of September, 1884, fourteen thousand four hundred and fifty skins of black partridges were despatched from Walhar station to Philour. The largest consignments were, to the greater disgrace of the Englishman who traffics in the skins, made in the breeding season. Native trappers are employed, and the poacher pays his agent at Walhar one anna per skin. "The number we have given," says the Pioneer, "of course only represents the good skins, but the slaughter caused by trapping of breeding parents with eggs or young birds can hardly be estimated. The Nawab of Bhawalpur is reputed a good sportsman: if the partridges are trapped in his jurisdiction, we hope he will exert himself to put a stop to the slaughter. His attention, as a matter of fact, has been called to the poaching. His officials are only too ready to interfere with railway servants who go out with a gun and do not kill one millionth part of the birds which the poacher destroys by trapping. BOMBAY TOWN COUNCIL.

At the weekly meeting of the Town Council, there were present, Sir Frank Souter (Chairman), Mr. Thorburn, Mr. Geary, Dr. Blanc, Mr. M. N. Banajee, Mr. Nowrozjee Furdoonjee, Mr. R. N. Khote, Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, and Mr. Nanabhoy Byramjee Jeejeebhoy.

THE CHAIRMAN JUSTIFIES HIMSELF.

The Chairman in justice to himself said he wished to offer an explanation with regard to an incident at the close of the last meeting of the Town Council. One of the items on the agenda was a petition from several inhabitants of Bombay requesting that steps might be taken to provide their houses with moveable dust-bins. He remarked at the time that this was a matter purely for the executive, and had better be referred to the Municipal Commissioner. No observation was made by any member on this proposal, and he instructed the Secretary accordingly. Mr. Khote then said he thought this would not be sufficient, and that the Council should express a wish for the request to be complied with. Thereupon he (the Chairman) ruled that the matter had been disposed of, and instructions given on the subject. Dr. Peterson objected that the matter could not have been disposed of unless it had been put to the vote. The Chairman thought they were all aware the practice was that unless there was any diversity of opinion on the point before them, the matter was never put to the vote, and a show of hands was not called for. Their Chairman remarked, "Gentlemen, I presume you consent," and if there should be no objection, the Council proceeded to the next business. He desired to make this explanation to show that his ruling was, in accordance with the practice prevailing ever since he had been the Chairman or had had a seat in the Council. If the members desired there should be a change in this procedure, it was for them to decide, and every item would be submitted to a show of hands, although, he submitted, this would in many cases be an absurdity.

E. the Governo[illegible] the hospital will be best that the interests [illegible]ent of a junior commissioned served by the appoint[illegible] by the Surgeon-General. surgeon, as propos[illegible]cer would be Rs. 511-10-0 The pay of this [illegible]o Rs. 617-5-2. Under the per mensem, rising [illegible] there would be an increase proposed arrangeme[illegible] over the present cost of of Rs. 15 a mont[illegible]rovide for the employment of subordinate staff, [illegible]eary in place of a first-class an assistant [illegible]; and His Excellency hopes that hospital assistants[illegible] will concur in approving the Municipal[illegible] of the Medical Department for the of the propo[illegible] a portion of the future Municipal application [illegible]nt to strengthening the staff of the surplus. The appointment of a junior commissioned surgeon will require the sanction of the [illegible]sioned [illegible] of India.

Gover[illegible] question had lately been so Dr. Blanc said the[illegible] less they said about it before the public that the[illegible] it the better. There were, indeed, many civil practitioners of merit who were perfectly able to hold the appointment; but he did not think they would give their services gratuitously, nor did he know why they should. There was no precedent for the experiment which they had adopted, and Mr. Nowrozjee was mistaken in supposing that there was a precedent in England. In the latter case the medical officers attached to the large hospitals at home give their services without receiving any remuneration at all. Though they did not receive a handsome salary, they did obtain some allowance, as well as a large amount of fees from lectures. It was impossible to expect the necessary degree of regularity and subordination from gentlemen who gave their services quite gratuitously. The question, therefore, for their consideration was whether they should employ a junior commissioned surgeon, as was recommended by Government, or get such independent practitioners as might be ready to sacrifice a portion of their practice in return for a fair equivalent. As to the European General Hospital, Dr. Blanc said he was about to recommend the appointment of two assistant surgeons at a monthly stipend of Rs. 125 each. The speaker concluded by proposing that the Government [illegible] having been duly considered, the Town Council should recommend that a surgeon and a physician for the Gokuldas Tejpal Hospital should be selected from the ranks of the civil practitioners, and that they should be appointed for two years at a remuneration of Rs. 125 each per month.

Mr. Now[illegible]rozjee would not maintain that a fair trial had be[illegible]en given to the experimental employment of hon[illegible]orary surgeons, and perhaps if another trial were made, under [illegible] proper circumstances, it might succeed. It was as well, however, to be prepared with an alternative, and if the honorary system was not regarded as a success, the best thing would be to carry out the suggestion made by Dr. Blanc. He agreed that it was not quite fair to exclude the graduates of the Grant Medical College from the appointment. Lecture fees were out of the question in Bombay, but remuneration in the shape of horse and carriage allowance, or [illegible] applications from graduates might be invited by the Municipality and submitted to some authority for selection. As an alternative proposal he would second Dr. Blanc's resolution.

The Municipal Commissioner suggested the advisability of postponing the discussion for a time in order that he might communicate with Government on the new view suggested. The Government had made a very distinct proposal, and with respect to Dr. Blanc's proposal he should like to ascertain how far he might consider his hands unfettered in the matter. The Government might very likely meet the alternative proposal when it was brought under notice.

Mr. Nowrozjee.—It should be understood that I am decidedly opposed to the suggestion of appointing gazetted officers made by Government.

Mr. Geary observed that there was really no possible ground of difference between the Town Council and the Government on this question. In September last, after the discussion of the merits of the honorary surgeons, the Town Council at the instance of Mr. Nowrozjee Furdonjee, seconded by Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, resolved "That the Government be informed that when the proposed transfer of the Goculdas Tejpal Hospital to the Municipality is completed, the Town Council will be glad to consider the suggestion made by the Government of remunerating the services of honorary surgeons to the hospitals, or the advisability of appointing a paid medical officer as second surgeon, as was the case before the appointment of the honorary assistants." The resolution surprised him, for he was not at the meeting when it was passed. Government was now asking them to act immediately on their own intimation in that resolution. It was now too late for them to dispute the principle of remunerating the surgeons, and the only point was whether it was unnecessary the appointment should be locked up in the service, instead of being thrown open to the medical profession in Bombay. The idea of Dr. Blanc was an excellent one, and the best thing to be done was to accept the Municipal Commissioner's suggestion for its communication to the Government.

The Chairman thought the view suggested by Dr. Blanc might have escaped the notice of Government, who, he was confident would be anxious to encourage the young members of the medical profession in Bombay. (Hear, hear.)

It was agreed to postpone further discussion for a week.

Mr. Nowrozjee, in accordance with a notice given asked the Town Council to inquire when [illegible]cipal Commissioner would lay before the [illegible]he detailed Annual Report of his admin[illegible]and the detailed statement of the receipts [illegible]ements of the Municipal fund, which [illegible] by law to be printed and delivered [illegible] the Corporation, at least eight [illegible] meeting to be held in [illegible] that July and August [illegible] the greater portion of [illegible] not been furnished [illegible]aker made due [illegible]gements of the [illegible] the zeal and [illegible] Commissioner, [illegible]ent report [illegible] possible [illegible] be fur-

In September last, after the discussion of the merits of the honorary surgeons, the Town Council at the instance of Mr. Nowrozjee Furdonjee, seconded by Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, resolved "That the Government be informed that when the proposed transfer of the Goculdas Tejpal Hospital to the Municipality is completed, the Town Council will be glad to consider the suggestion made by the Government of remunerating the services of honorary surgeons to the hospitals, or the advisability of appointing a paid medical officer as second surgeon, as was the case before the appointment of the honorary assistants." It was agreed to postpone further discussion for a week.

Mr. Nowrozjee, in accordance with a notice given asked the Town Council to inquire when [illegible]cipal Commissioner would lay before the [illegible]he detailed Annual Report of his admin[illegible]and the detailed statement of the receipts [illegible]ements of the Municipal fund, which [illegible] by law to be printed and delivered [illegible] the Corporation, at least eight [illegible] meeting to be held in [illegible] that July and August [illegible] the greater portion of [illegible] not been furnished [illegible]aker made due [illegible]gements of the [illegible] the zeal and [illegible] Commissioner, [illegible]ent report [illegible] possible [illegible] be fur-costly suit, to the expense of which would have to be added the cost of repairing the roads eventually. The other roads of the city must also be repaired, and as there would be no materials the best course would be to vote to the Commissioner a sum that would meet the necessities of the case. It was perfectly imposible to escape maintaining the roads, for if this were not not done for a time, lakhs and lakhs would be required to restore them to their present state. The new budget, which they would wait for in the ordinary routine, did not come on until April, several months intervening, and members of the Corporation and the Council would see the practical commonsense of providing for such a contingency, leaving altogether aside any question beyond this. By accepting the resolution before them there would be nothing on the face of the record which would be in contradiction to any previous resolution. On this account about Rs. 45,000 would be required, and among other items he proposed to provide for under the head of contigencies was one for the supply of smokeless coals. They intended to pursue their policy of assiduously summoning the owners of mills which did not consume their own smoke, to prevent the pollution of the atmosphere and the consequent injury to the health of the inhabitants. But the millowners would ask the Corporation to take the beam out of their own eye, and for this purpose it was necessary to spend more than would otherwise be necessary on the purchase of smokeless coal, which consumed and did not allow the smoke to escape into the air. Mr. Geary said the Town Council and the Corporation must distinctly understand the situation: if they did not continue to repair the streets, they would be involved in immense legal liabilities, the extent of which no one could estimate, and which would be discreditable to the Corporation. The resolution submitted would furnish the only means of getting out of the difficulty in which they were placed.

Mr. Nowrozjee urged that any representations as to the failure of the supply of materials should have been brought forward by their chief executive officer, the Municipal Commissioner, and not by a private member, for the matter would be in the cognisance of Mr. Ollivant, not of Mr. Geary.

Mr. Geary.—It is within the cognisance of the Council.

Mr. Nowrozjee.—Pardon me, it is a matter only in the cognisance of the executive head of the Municipality, who would be the proper person to come forward with any description of the state of things described. Mr. Nowrozjee further argued that materials for the repair of roads, the supply of coal, and such matters could not be brought under the head of contingencies.

The discussion stood unfinished when the Council adjourned.

IMPORTANT FACT AS TO BELTING.

AT the Bath and West of England Show held at Maidstone from the 2n to the 6th June, various Belts were in use on the machinery n motion there. On the 4th about noon the rain came on, and continued up to the close of the Show on the 6th. During the whole of the rain out in the open, one of Gandy's Patent American Cotton Belts continued to do its work satisfactorily, driving a set of Messrs. Taylor and Meats' three throw pumps. This was the only Belt that continued to work in the rain. All the Leather and Rubber Belts had to be taken off owing to their inability to drive in wet weather. This fact alone speaks volumes. How long will it take to convince Englishmen (the Americans are already convinced) that the Gandy Belt is the CHAMPION BELT of the World?

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE
THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS.—If you wish to obtain quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutics Chemists Medcal Hall, Simla, January 5, 1880, to J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralagia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controuling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is A DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.
CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodine" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
CAUTION.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.
Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT,
3, Great Russel-street, Bloomsbury, London.
